Ken と John はニュース記事を見ながらその内容について話しています。記事の内容を会話と照らし合わせて読み、設問に答えなさい。

The Japan Times ST より抜粋

Ken: Wow, this article is about a new technology, right?

John: Yes. A company called OpenAI made a new computer program called Sora. This article says it can create videos from (①).

Ken: Can I use it now?

John: (②). The article says “a red team tries to find flaws in the software.” It means the IT team is now working on the software to look for errors.

Ken: And some artists, designers, and movie makers are using it and (③) on it?

John: Right.

Ken: I can’t understand “a still image” in the article. What does it mean?

John: “Still” means “(④),” and “image” means a picture. So, “a still image” is something like a photo.

Ken: You mean, the article says that Sora can make animated photos?

John: Yes. However, the article says “the program is a work in progress.” It means Sora is (⑤) now. They need to improve its camera movement.

Ken: Anyway, AI is going to be used more and more in the real world. Do you think this is good?

John: I don't know... I know AI is amazing, but with it, that also means people can easily create fake news with fake videos or pictures, right? And when the news is fake, who will take responsibility for that? The AI or the creator?

Ken: It is an interesting topic! My next presentation is going to be about it!

John: Good. But remember. You ⑥ (depend / AI / you / on / should / when) think about the topic.

Ken: No? You said it is amazing...

2 下線部⑥の()内の語に必要な一語を足して、意味が通るように並べ替えなさい。

3 記事と会話の内容に合っている場合は T, 合っていない場合は F を書きなさい。

- (1) On February 15, OpenAI announced the new technology about AI.
- (2) John is strongly against using AI in the real world.
- (3) John doesn't think Ken knows who will take responsibility for fake news.
- (4) Ken's next presentation is going to be about OpenAI.

VII 英文 1 と英文 2 を読み、あとの設問に答えなさい。

英文 1

Once upon a time, in two far corners of the earth, Christmas was approaching. In ¹Saint Paul, it was the season of snow and beautiful lights, while in Sydney, Christmas was welcomed by the sun-shining oceans and the smell of summer wind.

In a comfortable, snow-covered house in Saint Paul, the Johnson family was preparing for Christmas Day. Their home was covered with colorful lights under the winter sky. Little Tommy Johnson hung his socks by the Christmas tree, and he was excited for the morning to come. On Christmas Eve, the Johnsons enjoyed a great grilled chicken, potatoes, and pumpkin pie for dinner. The snow continued to fall kindly, and it changed the world to white. Across the world, in Sydney, the Clarke family was preparing for their own Christmas party under a hot summer sky. The house was covered with colorful lights, and the garden was filled with the sounds of a barbecue. Instead of snowmen and ²reindeer, there were (①). On Christmas Eve, the Clarkes enjoyed grilled seafood and fresh salads. They surrounded a large table outside. The warm night air carried the smile of family and friends. The beautiful stars and the sound of the ocean waves made the day more comfortable.

Christmas morning came, and Tommy got up and found a snow-covered garden around his house. He ② (to / his gifts / find / under / hurried) the Christmas tree. The family spent the day playing board games by the fire while drinking hot cocoa. In Sydney, the Clarke family woke up and found the golden sun over the horizon. The beach invited them, and after a quick breakfast, they were in their swimsuits. They enjoyed the waves and beach volleyball under the sun, exchanged gifts under the shade of a beach umbrella and had fresh fruits and cold drinks for lunch.

As the sun began to set, the Clarkes surrounded a fire on the beach, and they shared stories and ate marshmallows. The sound of talking and the fire blended with the rhythm of the ocean. That created an Australian Christmas. Back in Saint Paul, the Johnsons ended their day with a Christmas movie with family. They talked with each other and planned for a new year full of hopes.

Two Christmases are very different in seasons and cultures, but each of them is full of love and happiness. They are surrounded by snow or sun, but the spirit of Christmas is the same: (③).

語注 ¹Saint Paul : セントポール, ミネソタ州の都市 ²reindeer : トナカイ

英文 2

Once upon a time, Santa Claus got ready for Christmas in two very different places.

In the US, Santa wore his classic suit and long boots. He lived in the ³North Pole with reindeer and delivered presents through the snowy sky. His Santa Claus cap kept him warm in the cold weather. He placed the boxes of gifts under the Christmas (④). In Australia, Christmas was in (⑤), so Santa's look was different. He wore his suit, but he added sunglasses and showed off his shoulders. He might ride a surfboard or relax under a beach (⑥). He even lived with kangaroos and koalas as friends!

While Santa travels around the world, he ⑦ (is / seeing / celebrated / enjoys / how / Christmas) differently. He spreads happiness everywhere, because he knows that the spirit of Christmas is the same wherever he goes.

語注 ³North Pole : 北極
